

MARKING TIME AT VARIOUS WELLS BY STEADY DRILLING

The Fabryan Pet. is now away to a real good start and by the time it reaches their hole will be down a couple of hundred feet. Jim Carrington, who is the driller here (and not Art Allison as incorrectly stated last week) says that conditions being encountered are about the same as in former holes, and that it is quite possible that record time for production will be marked up. Natural gas from the Maple Leaf well is being used for fuel and all over the camp, this proving a big asset.

Hugh Campbell, at the site of Western Konsol, No. 2 is coring just above the known oil sand, and in all likelihood this will be the next well brought in. Driller Jack Cruise says that everything at this well is in fine shape, and it is only a matter of days now before they will be measuring the flow of liquid gold. The hole is down over the 2200-foot level.

The crew at the Emerald well have been swabbing for some days, and although no official information has come to hand, it is known that the cores brought up lately have been well saturated with oil, although little gas has been found at the present depth.

The storage tanks being constructed at the Edmonton-Wainwright well will soon be ready for use, and then Director Mowatt intends to give the well a real run for a most thorough test. Its capacity is expected to reach higher figures than have yet been made public, although Driller Allison is non-committal on the quantity likely obtainable.

Mr. J. Cowan, who recently visited the field in the interests of the Toronto Star, has a splendid article on the possibilities in the Wainwright field in the current issue of McLean's magazine.

Local Notes

We learn that owing to several accidents and near accidents on the streets of our town, the motor vehicle laws are to be rigidly enforced. Drivers on the wrong side of the streets, and turning at any old place are the chief offences, but Corp. Mosses and Cons. Bond are advising motorists to "watch their step!"

The dining room at the Park hotel is being re-modelled and a number of booths are being put in for greater convenience of patrons.

The interior of the local branch of the Royal bank is being re-decorated this week at the hands of the Coffey Bros.

The numerous lake camps around our district still attract a large number of autoists and campers during the hot weather spell.

BRITISH-WAINWRIGHT OUTFIT POSSIBLY THE NEXT RUNNING

Three of the oil companies of the Wainwright field have just recently received their prospecting rotary rigs from the southern field. The rigs are of the best obtainable and are being unloaded right out on the sites chosen for the first holes by the various owners.

These particular drilling outfits are for the Anglo-Alberta Oil Ltd. of Wainwright, the British-Wainwright Oil Development Co. of Winnipeg and the National Explorations Co., of Edmonton. In addition to the above, still another outfit has arrived, this being for a company operating between Wainwright and Ribstone (on Old County Road).

It is now arranged that the Anglo-Alberta Co. and the British-Wainwright will operate a modern "blitz" shop jointly (very fully and thoroughly equipped with all modern devices) to dress the heavier fish tail bits, disc bits and core barrels.

Three of these rigs were procured by Mr. Dave Credille, of Credille, Sains and who will have charge of the installations. The rig for the National Explorations Co. was purchased by Mr. Art Newburn. They have come into the field equipped with from 2000 to

WEDDING BELLS

VEITCH-MURDOCH

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Murdoch 10637 108th street Edmonton on Tuesday last when their eldest daughter, Kathleen M., became the bride of Blair Renni Veitch, of Wainwright. The Rev. W. A. Smith performed the ceremony in the presence of a small party of relatives and intimate friends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dainty frock of peach canton crepe. She was attended by her sister Miss Olive Murdoch who wore powder blue silk canton.

Mr. Thomas Blacklock attended the bridegroom. Both the bride and bridesmaid carried beautiful bouquets of sweet peas.

During the signing of the register Mrs. L. Murdoch sang "Always" very charmingly, accompanied at the piano by Miss G. Murdoch.

After the ceremony a tempting buffet supper was served. The table was centred with the wedding cake, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Freemantle of Camrose. Many beautiful gifts were received.

After a short honeymoon, the bride and couple will return to Wainwright to take up residence.

McCORKLE-ETSON

The United church manse, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Tuesday July 27th when Miss Florence Dinmore and Mr. Harry McCorkle, both of the Ribstone district were united in marriage by the Rev. G. E. Fyfe. Congratulations are extended to these happy couples.

MINISTER OF HEALTH ISSUES ORDER RE MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

Dated at Edmonton on July 26th, the Minister of Health being satisfied that all requirements and provisions of the Municipal Hospitals Act with respect to the organization of a Municipal Hospital District have been substantially complied with hereby orders under authority vested in him by Section 4 of the said Act, that the following area, namely:

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT NO. 392
Townships 42 and 43, Ranges 4, 5 and 6, excepting that portion within the Buffalo Reserve.

ALL OF MUNICIPAL DISTRICT NO. 422

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT NO. 423
Townships 44, 45 and 46, Ranges 7 and 8, excepting that portion within the Buffalo Reserve.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT NO. 452
All that portion of Township 47 Ranges 4, 5 and 6, South of the Battle River and

TOWN OF WAINWRIGHT
be organized into a Municipal Hospital District.

And that's that!

3000 feet of drill stem apiece, which suggests the idea of deeper drilling in this field in the future drilling of wells. The chances are that deeper drilling will find sand after sand productive in this field as it has proven in other quarters.

The programme for the various companies will no doubt be announced within the next week or so and Mr. Credille states that the British-Wainwright have ordered him to move that company's rig to their lease which is situated south east of the B.P. 3B producer, and to begin operations as soon as the equipment can possibly be assembled. That company expects to land a string of ten inch casing to test the 2240 ft. and from which the 3B well gets its product. The British-Wainwright derrick and water well are now ready, and the camp houses and other material are now being hauled to the lease which is situated on l.s.d. 14 in 20-45-6.

***Dr. L. H. Coursier informs his clientele that he will be back at his office to re-commence his dental duties at the end of this week. The Irma and Edgerton visits will be continued as usual.

MONARCH OF PLAINS UP TO 2000 TO BE SOLD BY TENDERS

Two thousand head of buffalo now at our National park will be disposed of on the hoof, by tender, according to advice from the department of the interior at Ottawa. A proviso attached to the sale will be that the animals so purchased will be slaughtered and the meat and hides disposed of on the public markets.

The reason for the sale is the rapid increase in the size of the herd which has grown out of all proportion to the grazing area of the park. During the present season 2000 head will be shipped to Fort Smith, many having already been sent and last year 1634 were successfully transported to the same locality, but in spite of this great depletion the natural increase has more than offset it, and the sale by tender has been decided on as the most effective means of bringing the herd down to the desired proportion.

The rate when tenders must be in has not yet been set.

We learn that Mr. C. Bleasdale, of Wilkie, Sask. has bought the Harry Moss place near Heath. The new owner intends to move there this fall.

H. E. SPENCER M.P. RECEIVES NOMINATION U. F. A. CONVENTION

The most harmonious convention that the Battle River constituency has had for years took place last Wednesday, when a large number of members and friends were in attendance.

At the opening of the proceedings, Mr. A. Aiken, of Moyerton was elected chairman and Mr. Beck, of Czar, secretary of the convention.

The committee appointed were: Messrs Beck, W. Urquhart and Mrs. Harrington on credentials; Messrs C. Miller, Herbert Spencer and Mrs. Veitch on order of business, and the latter members also appointed as resolutions committee.

President Aiken in presenting his report of the association to the meeting spoke of the increase in the membership and the general improvement in the enthusiasm of the members.

He said, in part, "Too great a confusion exists in the public mind, and in the minds of many of our farmers as to the relationship between the U.F.A. group and the 'Progressive party'. There was absolutely no similarity between the two except that both advocated a like program of legislative measures. We believe" he said that in the U.F.A. political movement we have something new, something that proposes to face the problem left by the incapacity of the two old political parties."

"On the other hand, the Progressives were simply a well-meaning political party, partly organized, and one which was inevitably to meet the fate of all third political parties." The speaker continued "that the time had now come when the U.F.A. group at Ottawa must act as a separate unit. A distinct group co-operating with other groups, but amalgamating with no one group or party."

"To do this meant that the Federal U.F.A. constituency association must definitely recognize that their powers were only possible within the authority of the parent body—the U.F.A. We must be not organization from the local unit to the annual convention. The report of the president was unanimously adopted, as was also the report of the secretary, which showed the association to be in a healthy and solvent condition."

The following were the resolutions presented to the convention by the committee appointed to deal with such matters as that the Senate be now abolished—Carried unanimously.

2. That the provincial government bear all the expenses of school examination papers in the low grades—Carried.

3. That all examination papers be returned to the parents of the children or to the teacher of the school district—Carried.

Several important resolutions of a federal nature were eagerly discussed the most important of these in view of the political situation dealt with the power of a prime minister to advise dissolution and to resign on an unnecessary election. It reads:—

ALBERTA MAN HONOURED

Heading the list of 545 entrants throughout the dominion who sat for the civil service examination for the position, Clifford S. Bissett, a graduate with honours of the University of Alberta, who gained a distinguished record overseas during the war, has been appointed Canadian trade commissioner to South Africa.

"What unnecessary elections, and whereas the Governor General may be placed in an invidious position as the result of improper advice as to dissolution tendered him by the Prime Minister of the day, and

"Whereas it is undesirable that the representative of the Crown should at any time be in danger of appearing to become involved in any part controversy as the result of such improper advice. Therefore he resolved that subject to the statutory limitations of five years upon the life of Parliament, the Prime Minister shall be under obligation to obtain the sanction of a majority of the House of Commons, before advising His Excellency the Governor General to dissolve Parliament. Carried.

Another resolution declared that every U.F.A. candidate be pledged to the political principles laid down by the 1925 Convention and advised that the U.F.A. Group at Ottawa preserve its identity by not amalgamating with any party or group not organized along similar lines. This also carried.

Another resolution recognised the existence of the Annual Convention or its Board and Executive as the supreme body, and the right of the body to receive a report from time to time from the U.F.A. members at Ottawa.

An musical program delighted the delegates following the two adjournments for luncheon and supper.

During the afternoon session Mr. Emerson, M.L.A., addressed the meeting and in his well known and philosophical style held the audience during a brief speech covering the purpose of the U.F.A.

The president of the U.F.W.A., Mrs. Gunn, gave one of her splendid addresses. It will be a great loss to the movement should she be allowed to relinquish her activities. Many are now expressing the opinion that the U.F.W.A. should be represented at Ottawa.

In Mrs. Gunn's address she stressed the fact that the organization was in a better position than ever before, having come through the great test under which all previous farmers' political movements had broken down. She said as strong as ever but with much increased vigor and healthy determination to succeed. If they remain true, ultimate national recognition of our movement and acceptance of its principles was inevitable.

Henry E. Spencer, M.P., for Battle River then gave an exhaustive survey of the last sessions of Parliament. His audience was visibly impressed with the clear business like presentation of the various incidents leading up to the precipitate dissolution of parliament. For two hours he went over carefully and dispassionately every detail of the work of the U.F.A. group and the utter fairness of his speech drew forth all possibility of comment. He earnestly stressed the autocratic manner in which Mr. Meighen had carried out the work of the whole year by unnecessarily dissolving the House without arranging the formal prorogation or even securing the Governor General's assent to the measures.

The applause on the conclusion of his address was prolonged and enthusiastic. Mr. Spencer's name was at once put in nomination and amongst cheers and a demonstration that certainly was a wonderful tribute he was declared the U.F.A. candidate, the whole convention rose to their feet in a body and cheered and applauded their nominee to the echo.

Mr. Farquharson M.L.A. in a short snappy and effective address dealt with the philosophy of the U.F.A. movement and in a convincing manner showed that ideals alone promised the success that the organized citizenship of our country deserved and were seeking.

F. J. Garland M. P. was the last speaker of the day. He surveyed the more exciting episodes of the last session and particularly delighted his audience with the description of the Political old age pensioners. The late act that body appeared to him when it destroyed Old age Pensions for our unfortunate people of over seventy years. For about an hour Mr. Garland in his characteristic style interspersed with humorous asides delighted an audience which had already sat during three long sessions of the convention.

This enthusiastic and successful convention was adjourned at 11 p.m. after singing the National Anthem.

Owing to the long shows at the theatre on Friday and Saturday nights the building has found it necessary to sary to again put down an open-air dance floor on the vacant lots along side. This will be used every Wednesday and Saturday nights and will no doubt attract the usual large patronage for the summer months.

HERE'S one reason why Myrna Loy and Jane Winton, blonde charmers of the screen who appear in Warner Bros. pictures, are the recipients of a lot of ardent letters from fervent gentlemen admirers. Both Miss Loy and Miss Winton are fond of keep-typs in the light-weight class. THE DRAYMAN

Shannon repeated, confidently, they would get on. Then timidly she confessed that she had planned this from the first, even before Molly was born—that she should have an education. She had tried to save toward it, but there had been so many other children. This was an answer to prayer, Molly. Molly, who had a healthy, youthful disdain for prayer and was more like to rely on hard work and common sense, had her doubts on this score. Prayer might be all right for feeble, frightened people like her mother. She preferred to stand on her own feet.

The role of Providence was assumed amazingly in the end by Aunt Lena. This personage, Mrs. Shannon's only sister, lived in the largest, the cleanest the most perfectly managed house in Law's Chapel. When news of the scholarship got about, she sent for Molly. She was putting up her fall sweet pickles and she set her niece to peel while she talked. She was glad something by the name of Shannon had shown a spark of 'get up.' It was more than she had expected. Molly might in the course of time learn enough to teach and help support the family. With breath-taking ease, she checked off the practical details—each to her listener, a mountainous obstacle. Blossom, the third eldest girl she would take to help her that winter. She would give the twins work sawing wood after school hours. Hannah Lumpkin, the village good angel, had agreed to take care of Maggie when the next baby came. Molly's room in the dormitory could spare from her own super-abundant store; underwear also. And there was an old black taffeta which could be cut down, etc.

Before Molly, stunned at good fortune, could grasp the reality of the miracle, her departure was at hand. The precious garment was folded away tenets of her faith. 'I don't mean I hate them at one time—the children—She glanced ahead pensively at the silhouette of ragged, ill-kempt brothers and sisters against the dusk. 'I feel so sorry for them and so angry about them I could cry my eyes out...'

They were at the rickety little back gate now. The children rampant for supper, had gone on into the house. Jo was turning away, gloomy and dejected, when he shoved his hand suddenly into his blue denim pocket and brought out a crumpled envelope. 'I pretty nigh forgot,' he said, 'I was over to the store an' Ol'ie Sears asked me to fetch you this—'

Molly leaned across the gate, which whined reproachfully on its single hinge, and took the letter. She raised it to her eyes, straining to make out the typewritten characters. Her fingers trembled. For a space her heart ceased to beat. Thus simply and casually do the 'furious events' of life come to pass.

'Miss Molly Shannon, Law's Chapel Texas—so the address read. And in the upper left-hand corner were the words, 'Office of the Registrar, University of Texas.' She jerked open the envelope, devoured the brief communication inside, while Jo watched her, mystified and uneasy, but little dreaming he had himself put into her hands the final instrument of his destruction.

'My dear Miss Shannon (so the note ran).—We are happy to inform you that your examination average was higher than that of any other candidate, and you have accordingly been awarded one of the—scholarships for rural schools.

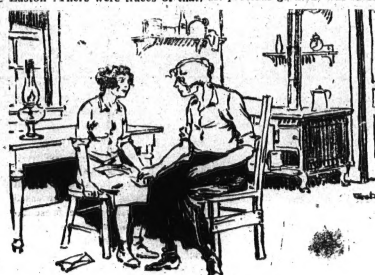

As regards the details, we advise that you get in touch at once with Miss Brian, who has charge of this matter.

With heartiest congratulations. I am

Very truly yours,

Molly had forgotten Jo, forgotten his very existence. With some incoherent murmur, she closed the gate and started toward the house. When she knew that she was alone, she halted, turned her eyes again to the darkening prairie at whose rim still lingered a faint arc of gold. She crushed the open sheet against her breast, lifted it to her lips. The empty cotton had slipped unnoted to the ground. One more she was on heaven kissing him! The golden gates had parted and she had her first dizzying glimpse of what was on the other side.

Her mother, an indescribably pathetic, misshapen figure in a faded calico wrapper, stood over the sizzling hot cook stove. There was a baby on her hip, another fretting at her skirts. Occasionally she put up her elbow with a worn, harassed gesture to push back the straggling waves of damp brown hair. Maggie Shannon had been a very pretty girl when she was Maggie Easton. There were traces of that

Then timidly she confessed that she had planned this from the first, even before Molly was born prettiness still, faint flashes, little gallant sallies forth through the overlay of worry and fatigue and pain. The latter crushed her precious letter convulsively in her fist, shoved it into the pocket of her cotton-check dress. Her whole body lurching forward. Leave here—go three hundred miles away, shifting her half of the burden on to those frail, twisted shoulders? She must have been mad to dream of such a thing.

CHAPTER VI

During supper she sat in a stupor, oblivious to all the noisy clatter about her—to the children's quarreling and weeping, to the baby's cries and her father's drawing his coffee up audibly through the blond mustaches. Aunt's and aunts and does flow unchallenged about her. The twins reached over the table, clamped at their food, gulped it down whole, unmolested by her.

Not until the dishes were cleared up and she and her mother in the kitchen alone was the latter hesitantly brought forth. She had not told about the examination, partly because the chance of winning a scholarship had seemed so remote; partly because she dreaded the panicky look that always came in to her mother's eyes at the least mention of leaving her.

But she was destined to have her first hint of what really went on behind that timid and furtive exterior. She was to go of course. They would get on somehow. And when Molly said doggedly she didn't see how, Mrs. Joe Welch, manager, phone 57

'The Golden Cocoon' with Helen Chadwick is a picturization of this novel by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. Copyright, 1926, by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

'She was, in the village parlance herself that hot tears gushed up into 'good in school' so much swifter than her eyes and she lost all sense of time any other girl or boy in Law's Chapel that she had long since gobbled up. As that outward shell of herself their common-school grammar and which others perceived as Molly histories and marched on in a class by plodded along now between the cotton herself to demolish rhetoric English literature, and even Latin. Her school-mates were afraid of her unorthodox powers of acquisition, afraid, too, of her biting tongue and the blasting fits of rage into which a single teasing down golden gates above the gray-word could throw her. They did come black of the prairie. This was the placid suns, however, as between the number of acres their father owned and dropped casual innuendo about 'them shillies' Shannon's.

Those Molly amended with Spartan impassivity. But never after could she hear the word 'shillies' without wincing in her soul. It rhymed malignantly with 'Shannon.'

Molly had read every book in Law's Chapel—except, of course, her father's despised paper-backs. There were not so many. The Franciscans had the most. But they were stinky with their books and kept them shut up in chill, glass-front cases like dead people behind

CHAPTER III

"Molly..."

An eager voice behind her, a heavy shod, masculine foot falling into step shattered the fragile bubble of her mood, put to flight all the moment's nervous rapture.

The intruder, strapping, shaggy country boy, some five years her senior, quailed visibly before her in-

"I was over to the store an' Ol'ie Sears asked me to fetch you this—" coffin lids. Not one of them could be taken from the house, and she had to read in the half light of the musty, unadorned parlor. The Franciscans were their books were friendly and hospitable on open shelves. Then Aunt Lena. But every house had at least two or three volumes—and Molly the keen scent of a bird dog for ferreting them out. People smiled when they saw her coming. They knew it was their books not themselves, she had come to see.

When she was twelve and a fraction oh wonders, Doctor Warren and his wife had taken her to town one evening to see a play. She knew that the word 'infidel' was whispered with sinister and awful significance when Doctor Warren's name was mentioned. But he was cheerful and friendly and knew how to make sick people well, even if it didn't bother much about going to church.

The theater—athema of country revivalists! It was deliciously terrifying this body to kick up one's heels under the very nose of orthodox. Molly's fingers turned to ice, her breath came uneven and fast, as the footlights ran out like the first forked tongue of prairie fire in the mystically darkened 'opera house.' The curtain rose slowly with tantalizing hitches on a 'drawing-room scene.'

She had no standards for distinguishing between a real play and ten-twenty thirty stock. But even her dazzled eager-to-be-deluded eyes could not overlook the fact that the sixteen-year old heroine of the piece was more like to be sixty under her red and white and that the mop of yellow curls had no, originally grown where it now reposed. But that took little from her delicious joy.

A story made throbbing flesh and blood before her very eyes! It was beyond her wildest dreams. She had not really read 'Hamlet' and Othello' and 'She Stoops to Conquer' at all. New and dizzy realms opened before her. After that night of destiny her own stories were translated. The wall opposite her bed in the old lean-to became the rear dimension for a stage set out with such reckless magnificence as even the nabobs in the profession can scarce afford. Thick folds of sombre velvet—these she instinctively preferred to the tawdry painted canvas—parted with slow and stately dignity. The footlights blazed from the cold blue of stars to the mellow gold of Indian-summer moon, and—the play was on.

With all this teeming, intense life going on inside her, Molly had small cause to regret at the hardships of her lot. What was cottingpicking? What was scrubbing and baby-tending? What the disorderly, crowded house—what was Law's Chapel, when she had all this violent, secret happiness sharpening as times to ecstasy that hurt? There were moments when she was so grateful for being and being

BUILDING OUR HOME INDUSTRIES

Recently a large equipment job in connection with a construction work of more than ordinary size came up various firms supplying this type of equipment were given the opportunity of submitting their estimates. The one Canadian company in the field submitted a price that was some $50,000 above the lowest bid, that of an American firm. In submitting their bid, they pointed out that the specifications were such as to favor American firms as the architects and engineers were from the other side of the line, and had designed their building on American practice.

Fifty thousand dollars is a large sum and no company would be justified in spending its shareholders' money to buy Canadian goods at $50,000 above an outside price. But the directors of the company buying the equipment took an action that was commendable. They withheld award of the contract for a week. They gave the Canadian firm a chance to suggest changes in the specifications that would enable them to meet the outside price.

Whether or not they got the contract is not germane to be important point is that the purchasing company took all reasonable steps to give the Canadian manufacturer an equal chance with the American firms that were bidding. Without sacrificing their shareholders' interests they kept Canada's goods in mind.

That is the spirit that will help build up Canadian industry.

But the moral in the above can be carried still further and especially by the thrifty housewife. There are many times when the consumer imagines that a big saving is being made in procuring goods from a catalogue house or itinerant peddler, when as a matter of fact, just the same or better bargains are being offered by the home town merchants with the added advantage of seeing and judging values before the purchase is made. In addition to this also, is the wrong point in many cases that credit till the pay-check arrives is obtainable from the local store, and that the actual money when spent is kept in circulation in the district.

It is surely worth thinking over; even to the extent of offering the local merchant the business on the same terms and seeing what is being paid for.

WHAT THEY THINK OF ROY BERRY AS OUR BIG BUILDER

Work in the Nation. Exploration company's derrick in Wainwright field on 1, 30-45-6-4, is going ahead this week and there is a lot of material being assembled for other companies which are promising development soon.

Roy Berry is the king-pin builder of the Wainwright field and he is looking ahead to a busy season from now on. The Examiner would not like to say just how long Roy has been a rig contractor, but he has covered a goodly portion of south and north America and before coming up to Alberta was active in the Montana field where he still has many business collections in his line.

Practice makes perfect in derrick work, as in everything else and when any amount of experience is combined with the amount of hustle that Roy can put into his crew, it means satisfaction to the oil companies. Representatives of new companies who want to get in touch with him at Wainwright will not find that difficult. All they have to do is to ask the first man they meet on the street: "Where's Roy?" Wainwright will tell him—Oil Examiner.

EIGHTY THOUSAND BOX CARS AT PRAIRIE POINTS

WINNIPEG. Eighty thousand box cars and two thousand locomotives are being assembled at strategic points on the prairies for the handling 1926 crop. The equipment is about evenly divided between the National and Canadian Pacific railways.

This is slightly in excess of the cars and motive power required last year.

suggesting the expectation of transportation officials as to the yield.

Conservative estimates place the western wheat production at less than four hundred million bushels.

ADVERTISING OF SUBSTITUTES IS SERIOUS MATTER

On July 15th, M. Justice DuBois granted an interlocutory injunction in favor of Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Co. against Theodore Provost, ordering him to cease from selling, advertising, offering, delivering or trafficking in under the name Kraft Cheese or as the product of the Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Co. Ltd., cheese not made by that Company, and further ordering him not to sell cheese packed, made up so as to resemble Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Co., Ltd.'s cheese, or packed or made up in any manner so as to create confusion in the mind of a customer with the petitioner's product.

The whole with costs against the respondent.

The Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Company, Ltd.'s petition set up that Kraft Cheese was their Trade Mark, the cheese having been first put out in this form by the company's president Mr. J. L. Kraft.

The petition further recited that Kraft Cheese was cheese put out by the petitioner's company in special foil forms, protected by wax-cupping and tin foil, without rind or skin, thereby making it possible to keep the cheese in a uniformly moist condition without deterioration from mould or otherwise, and to save the waste which is inevitable with the use of the cheese protected by rind, and also affording many other important advantages over the old method of manufacture, this all being a patented process.

The petition further recited that persons have asked for Kraft Cheese at the respondent's and were given cheese of another make and it appears that this form of substitution was happening with frequency. The petition was accompanied by a number of affidavits and resulted in judgement referred to.

DON'T WASTE YOUR STAMPS

On July 1 the two-cent letter postage rate was restored in Canada. Since April 1, 1915 the rate was increased to three cents as a war tax.

The removal of this tax and the return to the more popular two-cent rate, the same as is in effect in the United States, was provided for in the Canadian budget recently submitted to the Canadian parliament by Hon. James A. Robb, minister of finance. It is expected that the return of the two-cent postage will cause a big increase in postal business in Canada, not only in the urban centres but in the farming districts served by 3772 rural mail routes with about 210,000 boxes on them. The Canadian Public regard as this reduction in the letter postage rate as a birthday gift from the government, as July 1 was the 59th anniversary of Confederation when Canada A.D. 1926 a full statement duly verified of self-governing, and united field of their claims and of any securities held by them and that after that date the Administrator will distribute the assets of the Deceased among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to his knowledge.

WHEN BOOB MEETS BOOB

BY ERWIN GREER
(President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago).

When boob meets boob—then comes the crash.

"One side for me; one side for the other fellow, and the middle of the road for the automobile hog!" Thus begins and ends the reply of a famous racing pilot, whom I asked, what one rule, if conscientiously followed would do most to assist in reducing the mounting toll of motor accidents.

The road hog is the driver who steers his car alone in the middle of the road to the right just far enough to avoid collision with each oncoming machine. Unquestionably he is the greatest menace on wheels. And as a general rule he is also a violator of speed laws.

The man with good brakes is not nearly so great a menace when he "steps on it" on an open highway, as the little fellow with bad brakes who tries to "straighten out" all the blind curves of a grade.

Statistics prove that the road hog pulls most of his honors at intersections. He might be classified thusly: First, ignorance; second, speed; third, defective brakes; fourth, impatience. Patience is what most of us haven't got. A little more patience on the part of motorists would save greatly to the pleasure of driving and materially reduce the accident list.

Witness the traffic jams at busy intersections. Jones sees a hole and runs a fender into that hole. Smith, peevish at Jones for closing that hole, creeps up a couple of inches more and—there by eliminates chances of Brown, just about to clear the crossing, making his getaway. Good grief! All that is needed is for Jones to hold his position. Smith likewise and Brown clearing a path by getting out of the way to let them both through. But not a chance! Jones claims Smith can't put anything over on him and so some forty to seventy-five cars are tied up.

Just a second or two of patience for Smith and Jones and they could have continued serenely on their various ways, as could the other cars. And yet Jones and Smith are the type of men who would avoid several dark blocks on foot to avoid a chance encounter with hold-up men who would only steal their money and watches—not their lives.

Where is this milk of human kindness, and who is to start milking the cow of patience?

BE PREPARED TO TO CAN WHILE YOU CAN

Strawberries, the first of the berry crop, are now in season and within a few weeks they will be plentiful and selling at a reasonable price for preservation. The strawberry is without doubt the favored berry for jam, and the housewife who realizes that they are only in season for about two months and wishes to keep her family supplied throughout the winter, will go over her preserving equipment now and add to it or replenish any utensils or accessories.

The spring sales advertised in this newspaper feature all the necessary equipment—enameled ware, preserving equipment—enameled ware, preserving kettles and funnels, long handled spoons, skimmers, colanders and glass jars.

Be prepared to take advantage of the low price your dealer will ask for strawberries when he finds that he has overstocked.

CONSERVATIVE ARE IN CONVENTION TODAY

A convention of the Conservative party in the Federal riding of Battle River is being held today at the theatre, to nominate a candidate in the forthcoming elections. It is possible that two or three names will be placed before the convention for the honor of nominee. Mr. J. Morrison, of Vermilion, who has contested the seat in the last two campaigns will have first choice if he feels like making the run although we learn that he believes the selection on the occasion should go to some other person.

THE EXAMINER'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF PROV. MARKETS

CATTLE

BEEF—Edmonton demand was unable to absorb the heavy run of receipts this week which has had a weakening tendency. Choice heavy steers $6.25; choice light $6.25; good $5.50; medium $4.50; $5.25 common $4.50. Choice light heifers $5.25; good $4.75; medium $4.25; choice $4.25; good $3.50; medium $2.75; $3.50 common $2.50; $2.75; canners from $2.50; Choice bulls $3.25; medium $2.25; $2.50; canners $1.50; $2. ### HOGS

Edmonton market eased to $13 for thick smooths. Ten per cent premium on select.

SHEEP

Prices holding steady at Calgary with no material change at Edmonton.

GRAIN

Some districts report that a little moisture would help considerably. Parts in south of province are harvesting.

CREAM—BUTTER—MILK

CREAM—Prices holding steady, same as reported last week, with receipts larger. Prices at Edmonton are on equal basis with those quoted. CREAMERY BUTTER—No change has been made in values, and with reports of improved demand on export market the outlook for local trade is brighter. If export trade continues good present prices may prevail. DAIRY BUTTER—Liberal offerings are reported which has caused values to slump from 2¢ during past week. Lot of inferior quality still being handled. MILK—No change registered at Calgary. Edmonton price is at $2.40 per 100 lbs.

POULTRY—EGGS

POULTRY—Broilers and fowl arriving in large quantities and although demand is good market takes considerable cleaning. EGGS—Some buyers are quoting slightly lower values owing to the number of hot weather eggs that they are receiving. Receipts at present are not large. Retailing hotels and restaurants are taking offerings.

POTATOES

Buyers not bothering much with last year's crop, as new spuds are those wanted. Alberta potatoes worth from $1.75 to $2 per 100 lbs. delivered but they must be good stuff and of uniform size. B.C. offerings holding at $2.25 per hundred which is steady with last week.

LIBERALS OF BATTLE RIVER IN CONVENTION

On Wed next, Aug 11th the Liberals of this federal constituency, will hold a convention at the theatre to decide as to the advisability of putting a candidate in the field for the elections on September 14th. This was decided at the meeting of the federal executive held last week. At the time of writing no names have been mentioned as to 'possibles' although it is considered likely that the matter will be threshed out from every angle, and no doubt the outcome will be suitable to those present thereat.

CROP REPORT SHOWS CONDITION GENERALLY POOR

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the Head Office of the Bank of Montreal from its Branch Managers in the districts mentioned.

General. In the Prairie Provinces extreme heat has prevailed for several days with very little rain, and crops, particularly on light land, have suffered. All crops are maturing rapidly. Cutting of winter wheat and rye has commenced in some localities. There has been practically no further damage from hail. In Quebec there is plenty of moisture and continued favourable weather has been helpful to all crops. In Ontario warm weather has prevailed during the past week with occasional showers, and all growing crops have improved except in the south-western section of the Province where rain is badly needed. In the Maritime Provinces excellent growing conditions continue, and all crops are doing well. In British Columbia all crops are in need of rain.

Alberta. Western Area: Conditions continue to be satisfactory with the exception that a small area south of Edmonton requires moisture and seedling areas report that crops on light lands and spring ploughing are in need of rain. North-eastern Area: Crops in summerfall and new breaking are generally reported to be progressing favourably, but crops on light lands and spring ploughing require moisture. Conditions continue unsatisfactory.

Here and There

A total of 800,000 trout fry from the Banff hatchery have been placed in Sylvan Lake and 900,000 in Buffalo Lake, during the past week. A further consignment is to be placed in the tributary waters of the Red Deer River.

Export of pilchard oil to Europe will commence in bulk in September. Producers have contracted to ship 600 tons on each ship of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. for several months. The market is in Rotterdam. The company will have about two ships per month. Pilchard oil is used in preparing foods and medicines.

Another step forward in the effort to restore to Montreal its leading position in the live stock industry was taken recently when members of the Eastern Cattle Market Exchange met to reorganize their operations on the basis of new changes made calculated to improve Montreal's standing in the industry.

Duke Dmitri, of Leuchtenberg, Count de Beauharnois, lineal descendant of Charles, Marquis de Beauharnois, who governed Canada in the name of the French King Louis XV. between 1726 and 1747, is visiting for the first time the country in which his ancestor made history. He is taking part in the Grand Pow-Wow of the Canadian Trail Riders which is being held in Ptarmigan Valley, near Lake Louise, in the Canadian Rockies.

The English football team have finished their seven weeks' tour of the Dominion and they were greatly impressed with the generous hospitality tendered to them by the people in the cities they visited. Joe Smith, captain of the team, said: "Canadian football will, in a few years, in all probability be on a par with the brand of soccer played by the major leagues in Great Britain." According to him the object of the tour has been fully accomplished.

Coming from all parts of Great Britain and Ireland twenty-five thoroughbreds were unloaded from the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama when it arrived in Montreal lately. They are for Mullan's breeding and training ranch near Winnipeg, and comprise one stallion, 16 mares and eight geldings. Nellie's Pot, 3-year-old, by Cygnus (Sire of winner of Scottish Derby last year) out of Le Lay and Dorian, two-year-old, who comes of the same breeding as Coronach, winner of this year's English Derby, were among the horses arriving.

Captain Kilroy Harris, lecturer and radio talker in the United States on Australia and New Zealand, recently passed through Montreal on his way to the west where he will take part in the Trail Rides in the Canadian Rockies. He is already possessor of a silver medal for having completed 100 miles of trail rides and hopes this year to earn the gold medal that testifies to the completion of 500 miles riding trails in that district. Capt. Harris is gathering material from Canadian sources for his lectures and radio talks.

Reports from the Banff Springs Hotel and from agents along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Banff to the Pacific Coast received at C.P.R. headquarters, state that the forest fires in the Kootenay Park region at their nearest point are eighty miles distant from the hotel, and that they are nowhere near any of the tracks of the railway. Guests at the hotel and travellers on the railroad have been in no way inconvenienced by the fires and these are now stated to be well within sight of control. Banff Springs Hotel is at the present time enjoying the busiest season in its history.

ANOTHER BIG OIL WELL

Another oil well, producing a high grade of naphtha, has been brought in to production at the Turner Valley Field, south-west of Calgary. This is the MacLeod Well No. 2 in the vicinity of the famous Royalty No. 4 which has been a heavy producer for a year and a half. The MacLeod well brought in a production of wet gas the past week which has increased to ten million cubic per day. This flow has been connected with the absorption plant of the Royalty Co., for the production of naphtha. The new well promises to be a replica of the Royalty well, which is producing 15,000 barrels of naphtha each month.

MANAGES POOL ELEVATORS

Announcement has been made that C. M. Hall, manager of the Alberta Pacific Grain Co., has been appointed general manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool Elevators.

UNIQUE COMPLIMENT

A unique compliment was paid to the Newsboy's Band of Edmonton last week, when the famous Coldstream Guards Band broke precedent and massed with the Newsboys organization for a massed band concert on the final evening of the Edmonton Exhibition. The Newsboy's Band which played at Wembley in 1924 gave a splendid exhibition in their playing with the famous British band.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST

BORN.—To Mr and Mrs W. Barton, on July 29th, a son.

BORN.—To Mr and Mrs Howard E. Lusk (nee Reid) at Omemee, Ont., on July 25th a son.

BORN.—To Mr and Mrs L. Tebo (nee Springer) of Tofteld, at Wetaskiwin hospital, on July 27th, a son.

Mr I. Ghiloni is here from Coutts, on a visit to relatives.

Mrs Glen Johnson, of Edmonton, is spending a vacation with Mrs F. Stevens

Dave Credille arrived back here from Los Angeles and other Californian places last week.

Mr and Mrs J. Cuthbertson, motored to the city on Thursday last where Mr Cuthbertson was in attendance at a meeting of managers of the Bank of Montreal. Some high officials were there from the east, too. They returned home on Sunday last and report a pleasant trip.

After a week's absence Mr and Mrs R. Dunsmore and Mr and Mrs J. Sutherland, with their respective daughters, arrived home from their Cold lake fishing excursion on Sunday. They report a splendid trip and indeed by the amount of beautiful salmon trout with which they returned it would seem that their desires for 'some good fishing' were fully justified. Their good friends around town know this too now. The speckled beauty was a treat! Bob!

Mr and Mrs R. Snyder motored to the city on Monday morning for a combined business and pleasure trip.

We learn that Dr Courcier is expected back at his office at the end of this week after a spell at the coast to recuperate his health.

Mr Pete Laird, who has been very sick during the past week is now getting along much better, and we hope to see him around again in a few days.

The splendid rains of the week end were just exactly what were needed to finally assure that the crop in the Wainwright district will be all that is hoped for. The steady downpour of Saturday night did a world of good, and although the electric storm was vivid we can learn of no real damage being caused thereby.

Mr and Mrs Fish, of Rumsey, Alta, were here for a visit to their son Frank for a short stay last week. They returned home on Sunday.

Mr G. Bourke left last week for Chauvin where he will take a position with the Imperial company
